Crises in China and Indies Threaten Peace in Far East; Foresee Substantial Wage Gains

Given noisy welcome by populace, marines arrive in Tientsin, China to occupy port after Jap surrender. As crowds cheer, this leatherneck enjoys spin in bicycle rickshaw.

FOREIGN POLICY:

Regional Security

Though Japan has laid down her arms, peace has not yet come to the Pacific, what with Chinese nationalists and communists at swords points and Indonesians seeking their independence from Dutch rule.

U. S. troops stood in the middle as Chinese nationalists squared off against the communists, with marines guarding the vital coal mines and rail route around the shipping port of Chinwangtao in the troublesome northern zone.

Heretofore, the communists have considered this territory their especial domain, and until Chiang Kaishek's troops set foot upon it after disembarking from U.S. vessels, no nationalist forces had ever challenged Red control there. While the communists withdrew in the face of nationalist landings at Chinwangtao, they remained active to the west, cutting rail routes over which Chiang could deploy his armies.

With the U. S. supporting the nationalists and the Russians having recently promised to keep hands off of Chinese politics, Chiang has enjoyed every advantage in his effort to extend his domination over the country. While his representatives have haggled with the Reds over terms in Chungking, Chiang has cleverly pressed his edge in the

WAGE POLICY:

Labor Sees Gain

Though President Truman left the way for reconversion wage settlements up to the collective bargaining of employers and unions, labor looked to the administration program to pave the way for substantial pay increases within the stabilization structure.

By appealing for maintenance of high wartime "take-home" pay, and declaring business well able to absorb the added costs, or eligible for moderate price increases, Mr. Truman was seen to apply pressure on management at a time when attention is being focused on the all-important wage negotiations in the automobile, oil and steel industries.

In enunciating his reconversion wage policy to a radio audience estimated at 32,000,000, the President did so only after administraton consultations with both big business and labor leaders. As a result of one of these conferences with Henry Ford II, government officials expressed confidence a satisfactory settlement could be arranged in the

FARM PRICES:

Substantial gains in prices received by farmers for truck crops, grains and cotton were primarily responsible for a two-point upturn in the general level of prices received by farmers to 199 per cent of its August, 1909-July, 1914 average in mid-October, the department of agriculture reported. October parity prices reached another new 25-year high as prices paid by farmers for commodities, interest and taxes, adcompany's plants, setting an industry-wide pattern.

While the President said industry generally was capable of extending wage increases because of overtime elimination, greater productivity per worker, tax credits for lower earnings and abolition of the excess profits levy, he promised that price boosts would be granted after a trial period if the added costs resulted in operating losses.

Meantime, price rises would be considered in cases where industries raised wages to a full 28 per cent to cover added living costs since January, 1941; boosted pay to iron out differences in plants in the same industries or localities, or paid more to attract workers to essential enterprises to speed up reconver-

With the government's wage policy established, representatives of management and labor met in Washington, D. C., to establish machinery for settling differences.

AGRICULTURE: 1946 Prospects

Though the government intends no leveling off of over-all production next year and demand for food should remain high, real farm income may drop as much as 15 per cent during 1946 in reflecting increases in some prices of what farmers buy, the department of agriculture predicted.

Despite a 15 per cent drop in real income-that is, what income will actually buy in goods, etc.-it will still remain double the prewar average, the department reported. However, any kind of a decrease would be the first since 1935.

Predictions of a drop in real income for 1946 followed reports that the government would soon outline production goals for next year, asking for maintenance of present livestock and hog marketings and wheat and corn acreage; increased plantings of cotton and sugar beets, and sharp cuts for eggs and chickens and oil bearing crops. Milk and potatoes would be scheduled for smaller reductions.

FUEHRER'S END: Died Wth Eva

Answering repeated rumors of Hitler's escape from Berlin, British intelligence declared that an exhaustive investigation had indicated that the fuehrer had shot himself in the bunker of the reichchancellery on April 30 and his consort, Eva Braun, had followed him in death by taking poison.

Though broken in health, Hitler remained alert in mind to the end, the British found, and even held hopes for a successful defense of Berlin after his decision to remain in the capital on April 22 and abandon plans for a last-ditch stand in Bavarian mountain redoubt. When the Russians continued to hammer forward, however, hope faded and Hitler and his mistress were married on April 29, climaxing a long, secret relationship.

Bidding his personal followers in the reichchancellery goodbye the next day, Hitler then shot himself through the mouth while his mate took poison, the British said. Per the fuehrer's last orders, Propaganda Minister Goebbels and Deputy Leader Bormann then saturated the bodies with gasoline and burned them beyond recognition. It is also believed that the remains may have been further broken up and then

More Shoes on Way

With production for November and December expected to hit 30 million pair a month, shoes soon should become plentiful, with dealers able to replenish stocks curtailed by former wartime regulations and runs made upon stores following the removal of rationing.

At 20,000,000 pairs per month in August, the output began to spurt after V-J day, reaching 28,000,000 for

I took you into the office of Commissioner of Education John Studebaker who pointed out to me how reconverting educationally is as important as reconverting industrially if we are going to meet the problems of the day. Dr. Studebaker said that this could be achieved by making a solid core of education available to all. Such a core would be composed of certain basic studies which educators believe are essential to a solidarity of democratic thought. The commissioner of education sees this core as a reinforcement of mental iron in the moral structure of the core available to all, that is not the complete picture. Men like Doctor Studebaker would have this group of basic studies required of all student, not just made available to them. And thereby, say the traditionalists, hangs a threat to the elective system under which many institutions of learning have been comfortably educating students. Under the system of free choice, College Joe and College Jane could pick the courses their hearts desired. If their edge of them. Moreover, many hearts desired a little extra sleep in the morning, they could pick classes that would not require early rising. ing without a basic concept of what our democracy is all about, say the educators who are crying for reconversion. If they don't select the courses that will give them that con- ! cept, they must be required to take them, these same men say-the future of our way of life is at stake.

It is a well-known fact that before the Nazis ever dreamed of world conquest they first restrained by force, those who were too old or too wise to accept Nazi indoctrination. The more malleable minds of the young were filled with the false doctrines of subordination to the state, race hatred and exaltation of might. Their other anti-democratic and anti - Christian principles were poured into the youth until there was produced a state in which the controlling element of the population was fanatically loyal to Naziism.

Democracy and Christian princiwould be a good citizen. This is the first way in which the destructive forces which are working against democracy can be arrested. And so Doctor Studebaker presents the idea of a "core" around which can be built an understanding of the whole democratic system; how its parts can be fitted into one another and into a world which must either be closely integrated or ex-

There is not space here to consider the details of the composition of this core. Two examples of the type of studies which Doctor Studebaker feels are essential, and which must be taught much more comprehensively and for a longer period than they are now, was given in the first article. They are economics and geography. There must be basic understandings and skills in the field of language. # NOW IRONING IS A JOY, NOT A JOB

MISSISSIPPI. - Mrs. Florence Solomon has discovered wonderful relief for "ironing day Here is what she said about it to Faultless Starch re-

"I used to dread ironing day so much, but after I began using Faultless Starch, ironing is a pleasure instead of a dread.

Do you dread ironing day, too? If you have to iron with a "sticky" fron, no wonder! Your arms get tred, your back aches, your neck sches, your legs ache. It's mighty hard work to iron when the iron ticks at the end of each stroke.

But you don't HAVE to iron with "sticky" iron. Just change to Faultless Starch and iron with a smooth, slick iron that just flies

AMAZING EASY IRONING

There's a simple reason why Faultless Starch makes ironing easy. You see, it is made a special way. One of the special things about Faultless Starch is that it contains ironing-aids, already mixed in, that make it easy to do smooth, beautiful ironing. No more "sticky" iron!

EASY TO MAKE THIS STARCH

But that isn't all. You know how busy you are on washday. Then you have to stop and take out ten or fifteen minutes to make hot starch. But not when you use Faultless Starch! You make Faultless Starch in barely a minute-NO COOKING! Just cream it with a little cool water, add boiling water while stirring and presto! you're through! Start to starch!

You deserve the wonderful advantages of Faultless Starch. NO COOKING! NO "STICKY" IRON! So ask your grocer for Faultless Starch. Give all your wash that absolutely faultless look!—Adv.

If you suffer from hot flashes, feel weak, nervous, highstrung, bit blue at times—due to the functional "middle-age" period peculiar to women—try this great medicine—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve such symptoms. Pinkham's Compound HELPS NATURE. It's one of the best known medicines for this purpose. Follow label directions.

Elizabeth Herlong looked across the coffee-cups at her husband. "Feel better, Spratt?"

He began to laugh. "Yes, I do. Talking to you is such a relief. You're good to drop everything and drive all the way here just to listen to me.

"You know it's no bother," said Elizabeth. "I rather enjoy being a wastebasket for you to toss your troubles into."

"Call it that if you like," said Spratt. "Anyway, you're always there when I want you."

They smiled intimately at each They had been through this a hundred times in the past twenty years, since long before Spratt Herlong became a major producer of pictures at Vertex Studio. It was always the same, with minor variations-a picture that simply would not get itself made, actors who quarreled with the cameraman, writers who couldn't write, directors who antagonized everybody on the set, unexpected costs straining the budget, release dates creeping maddeningly closer, and Spratt desperately grabbing the telephone. "Elizabeth, if I don't get out of this place and see a reasonable human being I'm going wild. Meet me for lunch, can't you, and let me talk?"

She always responded. Since gasoline rationing began she had taken care to keep a few coupons in reserve, riding her bicycle on errands to the village, so she could always drive out to meet Spratt at the studio gates when he called her. She could rarely offer any concrete advice, for he knew his business a good deal better than she did, but she had a sympathetic ear and a sense of humor, and she knew how to keep silent about what he told her. She had, in fact, exactly what he needed, Spratt remarked.

"Now that I've got it off my chest to you, I'm beginning to see day-This new German writer ought to be a help. He's starting out like a pretty smart fellow."

"Can he write English dialogue?" "Oh yes, funny expressions sometimes, but any competent collaborator can fix those. He's been in this country two or three years, in the New York office awhile and then on pictures here. I gave him this script to read and he's coming in this afternoon to tell me what he can do with it. Tough story. Also some scenes about motherhood that can be good if they're right and awful if they're wrong."

Elizabeth's eyes twinkled across at him as she sipped her coffee. "Don't expect any suggestions from me, darling. If you want somebody to get romantic about motherhood, ask a man who's never changed a diaper."

"I don't want him to get romantic," Spratt retorted, "and as for

"-as for me, I'm no help whatever." Her attention caught by a sudden clatter of china, Elizabeth began to chuckle. "Spratt, on the way here I noticed a shop with the sign 'Henry K. Dishington.' "

'What's that got to do with anything?" Spratt inquired.

"Nothing, except that I amused myself all the rest of the way by thinking what fun it would be to find a partnership, especially a restaurant, called Washington and Dishington." Spratt laughed again. "You've never learned anything about pictures, but you do take my mind off them.

"Let's hope the German writer is more sympathetic. Oh, how do you do, Mrs. Farnsworth," Elizabeth broke off brightly, as Spratt sent her a Good-Lord-what-have-I-doneto-deserve-this look and the cushiony wife of one of the Vertex directors billowed down upon them. Spratt got up, trying to hide his annoyance, while Mrs. Farnsworth began telling them they simply must come to a party she was having at her house for the benefit of the Greek War Relief. "And don't keep standing up, Mr. Herlong, I'll just sit down a minute and tell you about it," she exclaimed, spreading herself over an extra chair the waitress had left at their table. Spratt sat down again, politely assuring the lady that he expected to be working the night of her party. "Oh, but don't you, either of you, want to do anything for the war?' she persisted plaintively, ignoring that they both wore silver buttons indicative of their having given three pints of blood apiece. "I'm sorry, Mrs. Farnsworth," answered Spratt. "Of course I understand the Greek War Relief is a deserving cause, in fact, I've already made a contribution to it. It isn't necessary for me to attend a party to appreciate the need." "But that's not quite the idea," urged the worthy creature. "It's what your presence will do for the cause, don't you understand? We want prominent personages to be there. And it will be a very good party - first-class bartenders, and professional entertainers." She paused expectantly.

"Why don't you just give the war relief all it will cost for the liquor and I will be seeing a lot of each other." and entertainment?" Elizabeth inquired. She knew it was a useless question. But she was not always as good as Spratt about being polite to bores.

Aggrieved, Mrs. Farnsworth ex-claimed, "But you don't understand!"-which Elizabeth reflected was quite true. She did not understand people who got drunk for the sake of the starving Greeks. Before she could say anything else, Spratt interrupted suavely.

"I'll tell you what I'll do, Mrs. Farnsworth. I can't come to your party, since I'm close to a shooting date and have to spend a great many evenings at the studio. But I'll be glad to give you-" he took out his wallet-"twenty dollars to be added to the funds raised by your entertainment."

"Why thank you, Mr. Herlong, how good of you!" she cried, beaming, accepting the bill he handed "I knew you'd understand the need when I explained it to you. And if it happens you don't have to work, I do hope you will come, you

"-as for me, I'm no help what-and Mrs. Herlong too. And couldn't you bring that dear boy of yours? We'll need some young men for the dancing, and it's so hard to be sure of servicemen these days, and anyway, you don't know who you might be getting," she added in a lower the USO, but when you invite them to your home, it's different. Couldn't you bring your boy?"

"I'm afraid Dick is rather young for late parties," Elizabeth de-murred. "He's only seventeen, you know, and he has to be up early to go to school."

"Only seventeen? Really? He looks older than that, because he's tall, I suppose. I'd wondered why he wasn't in the army. Does he still go to school? Seems almost useless, don't you think, when he'll be in the service so soon anyway. Where does he go?"

Elizabeth told her Dick had matriculated this fall at the University of California at Los Angeles.

"Oh, I see," said the fat lady dubi-"Does he like it there?" "Why yes, he likes it very much.

Why shouldn't he?" "Oh yes, it's a good school, I've no doubt of that," their tormentor conceded. "But the student bodyoh, I know a good many nice boys and girls go there, but so many others-do you really think it's wise for him to mix up with all those peo-

"Why, what people?" asked Eliza-eth. "They get good and bad in any big university, I suppose."

'Oh yes, but at UCLA-you know, all those Negroes, and-" again she lowered her voice-"I'm told the place is simply brimming with Jews. And when it comes to the colored students, they tell me that at UCLA they simply require the white students to treat them-well, you know, as equals-they insist it's democratic, and all that-"

She had touched Spratt at a point where he no longer felt it necessary to be suave. "Frankly, Mrs. Farnsworth," he said tersely, "I should not like to think my son was ashamed to be courteous to anybody God Almighty was not ashamed to create. I'm afraid we must leave you now—it's late, and I have to get back to work." He stood up.

"Oh, if you must. It's been such a pleasure to see you, and do come to the party if you can. Good-by now, Mrs. Herlong. Now that our Elizabeth nearly answered, "Not if I can help it," but she lied brightly and said she hoped so, and added no, she couldn't possibly drive back to town with Mrs. Farnsworth, because she had called for Spratt at the studio and had to drive him back there. Spratt put a bill on the table top to pay the check, and without waiting for change he and Elizabeth got out to their car.

"Oh Lord!" he groaned as he sank into it. "Haven't I got enough to put up with without having to run into fools like that?"

Elizabeth got in under the wheel, "I was wondering," she remarked, "when you said Dick shouldn't be ashamed to be courteous to anybody, if we shouldn't be ashamed to be courteous to her. This town really has more than its share of overfed imbeciles. What sort of man is her husband?"

"A very good director, thanks to her," Spratt returned. "He works himself to death to keep from having to go home. That's why she'll believe any yarn about night work." "Why on earth is he married to her?" Elizabeth wondered.

"God knows. Maybe she was cute and cuddly when she was eighteen, and now she's so excessively virtuous he can't get rid of her. And she cost me twenty dollars.'

"It's not quite lost if any of it gets to the Greeks."

"It won't," said Spratt. "It will go to buy Scotch for her party. Don't you know how those things are run? They pay for the liquor out of the contributions, and if anything is left over it goes to the cause."

Elizabeth began to laugh. "Forget it, Spratt. Twenty dollars is a small price to get away from her. My Aunt Grace was like that. Right now she's probably having a lovely time in heaven, organizing a campaign to get brighter haloes for the lesser angels. Do you still feel better about the pictures?"

"Yes, in spite of that nitwit." He grinned at her as she guided the car along the boulevard. "Maybe I need a brush with some dame like that once in awhile to appreciate my own good fortune."

"That's a left-handed compliment, but thank you. I'll keep my fingers crossed for your refugee to have an inspiration.

"I rather think he will. He's a good fellow. You should meet him sometime.'

"Bring him to dinner." "I will, one of these days. I imagine poor Kessler could use a little amusement. He's a cripple-can hardly walk, and only one hand." "What a shame. Did the Nazis ao that to him?"

"I don't know. I suspect they did. He doesn't say so, but he turns a sort of furious greenish white whenever anybody mentions them. Anyway, he does have ideas. I hope he has voice. "You know, it's all right at one today." Spratt turned toward her and repeated, "And thanks for coming out."

"You know you're welcome." She took her eyes from the traffic for an instant to give him a comradely smile. Spratt smiled back.

"We do have a pretty good time, don't we?" she said, looking down the road again.

"Yes we do. In spite of war, meat shortage and bores. Elizabeth." "Yes?

"You're not worried about Dick, are you?" "I try not to be," she returned

"Don't be. He's got to go next year when he's eighteen, you know." "I'm trying not to think about it until then.'

"That's all right. Just remember He's had a good life, he's a mighty decent kid, we never did expect to keep him at home forever. Besides, this war is about some-

"Yes, it is," she answered in a low voice. "But I'm not going to pretend it doesn't hurt. I wish Cherry had been the oldest, so both the boys would be under age. That's cowardly, isn't it? I've had a good life too, and one reason I've had it is that I happened to be born in the United States. I ought to be willing to give something back to my country. But-well, I think I can promise that when it happens I won't be a weeping little mother, but you know how it is."

"Sure I know. I feel like that myself. But we might as well figure it this way. Nothing we can give up to win this war can be compared to what we'll give up if we lose it. Don't forget that."

"I won't. I really don't think about it very much, Spratt."

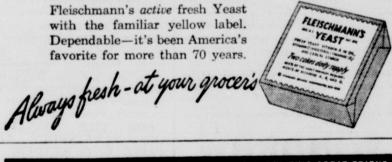

"Okay," Spratt said understand-agly. "One day at a time. That's ingly. enough."

They were passing the high wall that surrounded the studio lot. Elizabeth turned the car in at the gate, stepped on the brake and changed gears while she paused a moment for the officer on guard to recognize them. He glanced into the car. "Oh, I see, Mr. Herland, How are you?"

OWLS ROLL OVER DEL RIO

It was another good night for Hondo's fighting Owls, coached by Uncle Tom Bridges, as they rolled merrily over the highly touted Del Rio Wildcars to the tune of 18 to 0 Hondo Creek Monday night and had to come within two games of putting he clinch on District 37A.

The Owls started out early on the Wild ats by racking up 6 points be fore the Wildcats could get settled empletely. It was Charlie Koch off ackle for No. 1, after Joe Dominguez had recovered a Wildcat fumble on the kick-off on the 40yard line. Taylor's attempt for conversion was low and no good.

The scoring then stopped until midway in the 3rd period, when it was Koch again—this time over from he 2-yard line, after two successive first downs by Finger and Woolls, and a 12-yard pass from big "Corky" Taylor's arm.

Taylor again failed to convert, as the ball was very slippery from a light rain before the game. So the game was 12 to 0 until the last 3 minutes of play, when Taylor again heaved a pass, this time to Finger for a touchdown. Taylor again failed in conversion and the game ended with big Salmon of Del Rio throwing incomplete passes.

Paul Mueller, Sophomore, and "Smokey" Joe Dominguez first string tackle, played exceptionally good games; also Capt. Arthur Dawson, who broke up play after play through the game. The Owls will battle Carrizo Springs here, on Barry Field, tonight. Statistics on the Del Rio game are as follows:

Yards Rushing: Hondo, 216; Dei Rio, 36. Yards by passing: Hondo, 36; Del Rio, 32. First Downs: Hondo, 20; Del Rio, 2. Punts, average: Hondo, 36; Del Rio, 33. Passes inter-Hondo, ladies Elgin wrist watch, with cepted: Hondo, 1; Del Rio, 1. Penalinitials M. B. F. on back. Five dollars ties: Hondo, 70 yards; Del Rio, 20

THE BARRIENTES BOYS

Mrs. Eudelia Barrientes of this place furnished three boys to the .rmed services-one of whom was discharged some time ago and is back home, another is on his way home with an honorable discharge and the third is still in the service. Raoul was among Hondo's firs volunteerss. As a member of a tank unit he fought through the North Africa, Southern Italy and later in he Germany invasion. He was mong the first returnees after V-E day, and just this week received an appointment to a four year scholarhip in Trinity University, San Antonio, where he will study to beceme a Laboratory Technician under the provisions of the G. I. Bill of Rights. Robert landed at Portland, Oregon Monday November 12th, with his honorable discharge, after about three-years service as a Seaman 1st class aboard the U. S. S. Guam in the Southwest Pacific theatre of operations. Oscar, the youngest, is still in the Army and at last report was stationed in Japan with the 25th Infantry. He fought through several of the campaigns leading up to the Jap surrender, and is now wearing the enhignia of Sergeant.

During the war the churches of our Lord were constantly expected to lead every one in prayer for the safety of our personnel and for a speedy end of the war. Now that God has answered these prayers, what kind of appreciation are we showing to the church for constantly rendering this service to us and our nation? Are we attending divine service regularly and worshiping and praising God for His wonderful help and blessing? Christians let's wake up ere it is too late. You are cordially invited to worship with us at Zion's Lutheran that Lord who answers

NEW PONTIACS GO ON DISPLAY HERE

Motorists of this area are among the first in the nation to see the 1946 Pontiac models when the first shipment by the company of new cars since 1942 arrived here and went on display immediatly. "This area always has been a prestige point' in Pontiac's merhandising plan," D. U. Bathrick, eneral sales manager of Pontise Motor Division, declared in announcng the shipment. "That is why we are gratified in being able to show production-built models of our 1946 line here before the rest of the country gets a chance to see them

Each dealer in this area has received one car. This policy is being carried out throughout the entire country by Pontiac in the interest of fairness. More cars will be shipped as soon as each of the approximately 3,000 Pontiac dealers has a 1946 model to display.

A preview look at the new Pontiacs now on display reveals advanced styling which emphasizes a road-hugging appearence and plane ike contours. Dominated by the famed Silver Streak, the frontal appearance commands attention with its massive, flowing beauty, enhanced by a newly designed grille, relocated parking lamps and heavier bumpers extended in a sweeping curve to protect front fender skirts. "Mechanically," Mr. Bathrick said, 'the new Pontiac contains as many functional improvements as have been offered by Pontiac in any year. All have been completely tested and found desirable. Everything on the car, both inside and out, has been aimed at forwarding Pontiac's reputation for building a fine car capable of giving top-flight yet economical and trouble free service.

The satisfied owner always has been and always will remain our goal." At present Ponatic production is concentrated on the two-door Streamliner sedan-coupe, a popular type introduced by Pontiac in the low price field. Pontiacs again are available in both six and eight cylinder models with a negligible price difference. Order taking will be determined by the individual dealers, Mr. Bathrick said. Sales agreements signed now are subject to prices which will be established later.

Pontiac's production continues to be one of the highest in the industry, Mr. Bathrick said. In the first complete production year Pontiac will manufacture a half million cars, a program which it is backing with the largest expansion program in its

Only one side to our railroad tracks

Folks who are better off in our town live on the west side of the railroad tracks. We've got a lake there, and the local park, and some real nice land.

There used to be a phrase "from the wrong side of the tracks." It meant what you think . . . but you don't hear it any more. Not since Charlie Jenkins came home with the Purple Heart, and Wilie Wells got the Silver Star. There isn't any "wrong side" of the railroad tracks now!

And that change is going on all over America ... where our heroes have come from obscure homes . . . and gree ass has overshadowed wealth and shallow social definitions.

From where I sit, it all comes down to tolerance . . . tolerance for what a man is and does . . . tolerance for his freedom and opinions, whether he's rich or poor, likes beer or cider, Shakespeare or the comic section. It's a great thing-tolerance!

THE EDITOR'S COLUMN

The livestock-and-meat industry is like an endless chain. The meat travels in one direction; from livestock producer to meat packer, to retail dealer, to consumer. And coming back in the opposite direction is money; from the meat purchaser to the storekeeper, to the meat packer, to the man who grows the

There must be motive power to keep that chain running, and that motive power is profit. It is profit that keeps ranchers and farmers producing livestock; profit keeps meat packers slaughtering, dressing and delivering meat to retailers; profit keeps retailers selling meat in their stores.

We at Swift & Company well know that a continuing loss anywhere along the line would mean that all of us would suffer. Thus, it is clearly to our own advantage to operate our end of the livestock-and-meat industry so efficiently that the money the consumer pays for meat shall cover all costs plus a sufficient profit for retailers and livestock producers, as well as for ourselves.

■ PHENOTHIAZINE FOR FARM FLOCKS

By RICHARD C. MILLER entucky Agricultural Experiment Station All sheep in farm flocks—ewes, rams and lambs—should be dosed late this fall or early winter with phenothiazine and again in the spring after lambing time. From at least May 1, through September, the one-to-nine phenothiazine-salt mixture should be accessible in a covered feeder that protects it from the weather. In Kentucky tests during the past three years, involving 30,000 breeding ewes, this program (in connection with generally recognized good farm flock practices, such as pasture rotation), eliminated the dosing of any lambs in more than 90 percent of the flocks, and made possible the growing out of even the latest lambs to good market weights and finish. The average increase in weight per lamb was nearly 12 pounds above normal prewar average. The average annual cost for phenothiazine was less than 30 cents per ewe.

YORKTOWN LAD TAKES PART IN JAP INVASION

Johnnie L. Ideus, GM3c, member of the crew of the U.S.S. Hopkins, a mine sweeper, writes a very interesting letter to his sister and brother-inlaw, Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Mc Cray, who reside in Hondo.

It seems that the Hopkins took! part in the tough job of preparing for the Okinawa invasion. It was on May 4th that five Jap suicide planes tried to sink the ship. Four were shot down but one hit the Hopkins, doing some damage and causing some deaths and injuries to members of the crew. Johnny escaped injury. The largest fragment of the plane that Cold upon the sand he could pick up was about the size

Later his ship took part in sweeping up mines preparatory to enter ing Tokyo harbor and the capital itself. This was a very dangerous operation but was done successfully by seven mine sweeping ships.

Johnny had a beautiful view Japan's highest peak which can be plainly seen from Tokyo on clean mornings. He expects enough points to be eligible for dis charge in the near future and is anx ious to return home to the good old

All of the foregoing observations are excerpts from his letter.

The heavily - loaded transports, steaming in column formation had pushed their blunt bows into outer Tokyo bay. "Love" day was at hand and the occupation of Japan only hours away.

In the van of the occupation force two high-speed destroyer minesweepers, sweep-gear streamed, were cutting a safe path into the Japanese homeland.

Hovering over the outskirts of the swept channel, her deck lined with riflemen, was the mine destruction vessel. She looked a little differen from her stream-lined companions but had a cocky air about her. She was the USS Hopkins, oldes warship in the occupation fleet and among the last of a vanishing species —the "four-stack" destroyer.

It was perhaps symbolic that she should be among the first ships to enter Tokyo Bay. She had been either the first or among the first ships in, at almost every major invasion in the Pacific theatre. Sho had fought this war in the Pacific as few other ships have fought it and was now in on the kill.

Commissioned in 1921 as the DD 249, she was named in honor of Esei Hopkins, first and only Command in Chief of the Continental Na Long the pride of the destroy fleet and one-time flag-ship of Ada William F. Halsey, she was convered to a high-speed minesweeper i 1940 and designated flagship of Mine Squadron 2. Pearl Harbor found her 700 miles away at Johnston Is land, but in fighting trim.

Then began a combat record tha almost legendary and include such names as Guadalcanal, the Firs Battle of Savo Island, the Russel Islands, New Georgia, Empress Au gusta Bay, Kula Gulf, Bougainville Guam, Saipan, Lingayen Gulf, Iwo Jima, Okinawa, and now Tokyo. A first-line ship throughout the war she carried Admiral Kelly Turner's flag at the Russell Islands invasion

Despite her out-moded armament, she has 7 Jap planes painted on the wings of her bridge-her only battle damage a near-miss by a Kamikaze plane at Okinawa which resulted in 4 casualties.

At the cessation of hostilities she was sweeping mines in the China Sea, less than 200 miles from the Jap mainland. When the first American warships reached Yokosuka she had received credit for 8 mines swept in Tokyo Bay.

Skipper of the Hopkins is Lt. Doug Payne, 27-year-old Ketchikan, Alaska, Salmon fisherman who holds the Silver Star, received for gallantry in the Battle of Lingayen Gulf. His answer to the question of why the Hopkins is here in Tokyo Bay is a brief one.

"Guess they just can't get along without us.'

probably true. The Hop-And it kins will be getting underway again for there are some mines to be swept off the coast of Japan.

HEALTH NOTES

For many years the ultimate in safety has been conveyed in the old expression, "He is as safe as if he were in his own home." have disproved the truth of this assumption and tend to show that home, far from being the safest place, is often quite the opposite. Dr. George W. Cox, State Health Officer, commenting on the annual casualty totals from accidents in the home throughout the United States, said today that such accidents are the cause of more deaths than diptheria, scarlet fever, whooping cough, and measles combined; of over two-thirds as many as automobile accidents; and of over a third as many deaths as tuberculosis.

"Slippery floor surfaces, lack of handrails on cellar steps, absence of protective gates at the top of stairs in homes where there are small children, toys left on stairs, unanchored small rugs on polished floors, poisons in medicine cabinets accessible to children, and the careless storage of sharp tools and firearms are some of the more prominent hazards resulting in home accidents, Dr. Cox

"However," he added, "in the last analysis, the problem boils down to one of reasonable individual caution. We cannot view complacently the more than 30,000 deaths in the United States annually due to home accidents. These deaths, chargeable to remediable carelessness, can and should be reduced."

United Gas employes, serving in our armed forces, have been notified that we have jobs for them, when they return.... In reply to a questionnaire sent them, hundreds of answers already received indicate a deep appreciation of the Companies' interest, and practically all of them want to come back to us.

We asked if they thought their military experience had fitted them for special work in our organization. Many indicated a preference. We will do everything possible to give them the work they desire.... To all of those who have served or are serving in our armed forces, we all owe an everlasting debt of gratitude.

Johnny, knowing the Navy had lost their old mascot, thought it would be a great pleasure to furnish the new mascot.

He had Gov. Coke Stevenson pick one from a fine herd of registered Angoras. It is true this goat was raised on the Adolf Stieler ranch, but Johnny, better known as "Hondo," recently purchased some six or seven hundred head of these fine goats from Stieler. After the Governor had selected this choice goat, the animal was loaded up and taken back to "Hondo's" ranch where with the able-bodied assistance of his wife "Shotzie," the goat was groomed for his trip to Annapolis-even the little daughter, Becky, was so interested in beautifying Billy that she donated her precious Ivory soap for Billy's first bath. Johnny has long kept Hondo on the map, especially in swimming days while a student at the University of Texas, and later as an instructor. We hope he doesn't try to keep up his old profession and try to teach all his goats to swim. After all, we are proud to know that it was a Hondo boy who had the privilege and pleasure of representing Hondo at such a fine school as the Naval Academy.

Easy To Teach New House Dog Proper Manners

"You may not be able to teach an old dog new tricks, but you can teach a new puppy proper manners," says A. H. Leonard, dog authority of the Purina Mills, who believes that a complete understanding between master and animal may be worked out if a little care and time is taken in

'breaking in' the new pup.
"A strange child coming into one's home wouldn't feel particularly familiar with his surroundings for a day or two, so how can a puppy, who has far less powers of reason be expected to settle right down," Leonard points out. "Treat your puppy as you would a person-give him some qulet and peace and some time to get himself adjusted."

Watch Feed Carefully

"And don't," Leonard cautions, "stuff the little newcomer with greasy table scraps, meats, sweets and other feed that his system is unable to care for. Feeding has a lot to do with a satisfactory start of a pup. Give him a food suited to his needs. For young puppies compressed dog food in small checker form is ideal. These checkchecker form is ideal. These check-ers fed with water will give a puppy just what he needs for growth and health."

Feeding plays a big part in helping the new puppy get adjusted to his sur-

Housebreaking

"Housebreaking is easy if pupples are taught from the very beginning the meaning of cleanliness. Fresh newspapers should be spread out and the puppy taught that they are to be used at all times. Sometimes at first it may be necessary to cover the entire floor with newspapers, gradually reducing the covered area to one news-paper pad. Dogs are intelligent animals and are quick to understand what is expected if some member of the family will take time to deal with them sympathetically," Leonard says.

SHALL WE HAVE FREE ENTER-PRISE OR SOCIALISM?

Necessarily involved in this controversy as to (Placing a 25% ceiling on income) taxes is the question of whether our system of free enterprise is to be replaced by national socialism. Under free enterprise the capital required to provide jobs is furnished by the individual, and nished by the government, and it becomes the owner.

Can anyone doubt that this system suffer and die in Italy, France and would be more wasteful and less efin the far off East, and did men of ficient, that it would produce less,

Under this system all authority would be centered in Washington and citizens of the states and municior nearly so, now that Thanksgiving palities would be governed by a host of bureaucrats owing allegiance, not to the state or municipality, but to the federal government, and the present regimentation of the people would be continued and increased. Our experience of the last few years has clearly demonstrated that the best government is that provided by the people's own locally-elected representatives and not by agents of the federal government. I am confident that if the people were given an opportunity to vote on this question their vote would be overwhelmingly against the change. Unfortunately, we have gone a long way toward accomplishing this change without many realizing what has happen-ed.—Robert B. Dresser in Railroad Workers Journal.

Production is the source of all wealth-for no matter what the poconvert them into useable form for the sustenance, comfort and pleasure of man. America has been anddespite a most profligate waste-still is fabulously rich in potential wealth. In the knowledge and skill to produce useable commodities from this marvelous resource, we have not been lacking. In fact, we have de-veloped a skill in some directions for producing quite as marvelous as the vast store from which we glean. But strange to say, our ability to preserve, distribute and utilize fruits of our productive enterprize and skill has not kept pace and we ere brought face to face with thousands of acres of vegetables ready for harvest in the Rio Grande valley being destroyed for lack of facilities to distribute it profitably to a hungry world. As this is being written millions of eggs are threatened with a like fate-for lack of facilities for storing them against the hour of greater need. Preservation, transportation and distribution must go and in hand with production if the welfare of producers and the safety Under socialism the management of consumers are to be safely con-

IN AUTUMN'S WOODS

I shall never be lonely Nor think of growing old, When I can walk in Autumn's woods And see her wealth unfold.

A crimson flame to lead me on Among such scenes as these, Where hues of earth and sky combine In deep-toned symphonies.

I shall never be lonely No matter what betide! When I can walk in Autumn's woods-A crimson flame my guide. Here beauty crowns the aging year, And death is glorified.

ADVOCATES SCHOOL AND GUARD TRAINING PLAN

WASHINGTON .- The papers amply reported what congressmen said about Mr. Truman's youth draft plan, but more important was what was not said.

Normally the Democratic leaders rush to say any message from their President was a great speech, often the greatest ever. This time, House Leader McCormack told inquiring newsmen he wanted time to read the message thoroughly and Senate Leader Barkley could not be found although he was around.

A similarly significant void was evident all down the line of both Democratic and Republican ranks. where the men know the youth draft is not popular. Actually, only those congressmen who had already committed themselves on both sides of the question chose to comment.

Any rush for action likewise was missing. Acting Chairman Johnson of the senate military committee, a Democrat who is against the Truman idea, said the matter could not be considered until about January 15 when the chairman returns.

The Truman proposition thus did not change votes or arouse supporting sentiment. His basic between-the-lines idea plainly was that Russia has not joined wholeheartedly in the peace, is the only competitive world military power to us, has announced plans for a youth draft of her own-and we should do likewise.

SCIENTIFIC TRAINED MEN INSTEAD OF BIG ARMED FORCE

This unspoken part of the presentation was the most impressive. The written argument of the President cannot hold analytical water.

He says, for instance, he wants a small army and navy, a big national guard and a youth draft for re-serves. His defense then would rest entirely on how hig and good he made the national guard, because he admits the drafted youth would only have basic training-not the specialized training essential for modern

He claimed the rockets and atom bombs have robbed us of time to prepare in the future. But he said the army and navy could not use the youthful reserves until time was taken out to get an act of congress passed. By that time the nation might be destroyed.

He claimed our geographical ocean defense l stroyed (directed missiles would come winging over the icy frontier of the arctic to our Midwest), but his plan would risk our defenses to "a small" army and navy, and a national guard, which hardly sounds like adequate defense and completely abandons attack possibilities which are often the best defense.

Frankly, it seems to me Mr. Truman was sold an obsolete youth draft system by the old-time crowd in the war department, and he dressed it up with his national guard enlargement idea, and presented it as an answer for a job it will not do. From his own evidence, we will have to be ready to act faster than his plan would allow action.

Then again he said "Universal military training is not conscription," assuming apparently that conscription applies only to direct service in the army and navy.

Conscription means "enlisted by compulsion" for anything, whether civilian service, youth camps or the Democratic party. It is the Russian way, the Communist way, the old Prussian way and the objection that will unquestionably sway congress against it is that there are many democratic ways of doing the same job better.

What we need for defense is a scientific army for this scientific age. First there should be a single department of the armed forces with a co-equal air force to fight the very things which Mr. Truman envisaged.

Fossilized ideas like youth drafts should be shoved out with the fossils, and a new enlightened spirit generated throughout our defense system. This armed force should not be "small" or "large" but enough.

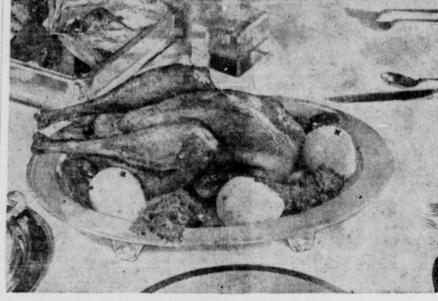

By the youth draft, the armed forces would only give basic training to a little more than 1,000,000 youngsters a year, taking them from their homes, their lives, the development of their talents and delaying their economic contributions as workers in the nation by a year.

For those who do not go to school, the national guard development is logical. They can get basic and specialized training at nights, on weekends, in summer maneuvers without quitting their jobs, lives, and fami-

But they should be furnished the best officers, with war training, and the latest equipment so they will know how to use it. Their aviation branch should not be a flying club, but a combat service.

These two steps would cover the entire youth of the country with a truly democratic kind of compulsion.

It's Roast Turkey Time Again! (See Recipe Below)

Time for Thanks

The first peacetime Thanksgiving in America for several years can really be a thankful one. It sees loved ones coming home to be with their families once more. The family cupboards, though bare in almost every other country, are full here. Thanksgiving.

Yes, it can really be a thankful

Thanksgiving is a very "homey" sort of holiday. Families and neighbors gather and share their year's harvest. The food, too, is of the homey type: Mr. Turkey, proud, plump and bursting with good stuffing; crisp, crackly cranberries; hot, fluffy rolls; relishes fresh from the cupboard in the cellar; and, of course, the crowning touch, pumpkin pie, shiny and plain or topped with whipped cream, if you wish.

One of the nicest centerpieces for a Thanksgiving table is made of fruit. There are rosy-cheeked apples, golden-hued pears, flaming oranges, all woven with strings of cranberry and clusters of grapes. Yes, pretty, and good to eat, too!

An easy way to serve is to have cups of chilled cider in the living room before the serious business of dinner begins. Don't forget to pass crackers, salted nuts, and relishes with the first course. Or, if the weather is a mite chilly, try hot cupfuls of tomato juice, spiced up with a bit of lemon juice. These will help break the ice and bring the folks to the table in a jovial mood.

How to Prepare Turkey.

Singe the bird by holding over a flame. Remove pin feathers with knife or tweezers. Remove oil bag from tail.

If internal organs have not been removed by the butcher, make an opening carefully under one of the legs, or at the vent, and remove them carefully, taking care that the gall bladder which lies near the liver is not broken. The intestines, gizzard and liver should all be removed together.

The lungs and kidneys which lie near the backbone must also be removed. Clean the gizzard by cutting through to the inner coat, half way around, take off the outer coat and remove the bag which is inside.

The giblets, which are the gizzard, liver and heart, should be washed carefully, placed in cold water, heated quickly and cooked until tender.

Wash the bird thoroughly inside and out, and rub the body cavity with salt before stuffing. Fill lightly with dressing.

To truss the fowl (this is done after stuffing) tie end of skin of neck with string, leaving two long ends to pull it over the back. Turn wings

LYNN SAYS

Let's make good piecrust: Excellent pastry is the result achieved from careful measurements and little handling. A good, standard proportion is I cup flour, 1/3 cup fat, and 3/4 teaspoon salt. For double this recipe, not more than 1/4 cup of cold water should be used.

All ingredients should be well chilled before working. This is especially important when the fat is being worked into the flour. In this case the fat does not melt, but is rather coated with the flour, and the method makes for flakier pastry.

If too much water is added, the manipulation necessary to shape the dough and roll it out develops the gluten. This makes a sticky dough and tough crust. If too little water is added, the crust is crumbly rather than flaky because there is not enough moisture to bind the crust.

back and legs to front, close to body. Draw string up, on each side over legs, cross it and tie legs down under and around the tail.

Making the Dressing.

Dressings may be of any type to suit the individual taste, but they should be packed into the body cavity lightly. Allow one cup of stuffing for each pound of turkey or chicken.

Bread Stuffing. (Makes 3 cups)

4 cups dry bread cubes 3 tablespoons chopped onion 1 teaspoon salt 1/4 teaspoon pepper Sage or poultry dressing 1/3 cup melted fat Hot water or stock to moisten

Combine bread, onion and seasonings. Add fat and sufficient liquid to moisten (about % cup). Oyster Dressing: Add 1/2 to 1 pint drained, chopped oysters, uncooked or heated in the fat of the above Raisin Stuffing: Add 1/2 cup seedless raisins.

Celery Stuffing: 11/2 cups celery, chopped, should be added.

Roasting Time.

For a turkey weighing eight to ten pounds, use a 325-degree oven and roast the bird, uncovered, for 3 to 31/2 hours. For a 10 to 14 pound bird, use a 325-degree oven and allow 31/2 to 4 hours. For a larger bird, 14 to 18 pounds, use a 300-degree oven and allow 4 to 41/2 hours.

Onions Au Gratin. (Serves 6)

Peel 3 cups small white onions and boil until almost tender in boiling salted water.

Prepare 1½ cups medium white sauce. Place onions in greased baking dish, pour white sauce over them, and cover with 1/4 cup grated cheese and 3 tablespoons buttered bread crumbs. Bake in a moderate oven about 10 minutes, enough to heat through.

There's nothing quite like a good pumpkin pie to finish off this dinner of dinners. Now that whipped cream is back again, the pie can come to the table, topped with glorious swirls of that luscious delicacy. Or, if you prefer, make a meringue and flavor it with maple syrup and then spread on the pie and brown before serving.

Pumpkin Pie.

2 cups cooked or canned pumpkin 1 cup brown sugar

1 teaspoon cinnamon 1/2 cup cream

1/2 teaspoon ginger 1/2 teaspoon salt 3 eggs 2 cups milk

Mix all ingredients together in the order given. Bake in a deep dish pie plate which has been lined with pastry. When cool, top with sweetened, whipped cream and sprinkle with chopped pecans.

DEPARTMENT OF PEACE

WASHINGTON. - This columnist recently proposed that we begin thinking a little more about the Sermon on the Mount in our international relations, and among other things establish a Department of Peace.

It was suggested that along with the Department of War and the navy department, we set up as our first line of defense a Department of Peace to promote the idea that the only alternative to the atom bomb is to teach the world and ourselves that we must get along with each other. One aftermath of this idea is significant. It occurred in the appropriations committee of the house of representatives the other day when its members voted appropriations for the state department.

It happens that the nearest thing we have to a Department of Peace is the Department of State. That organization is by no means perfect, and might not be ideal to operate a Department of Peace. But its new chief, Jimmy Byrnes, has some good ideas and is working hard to establish new bureaus for spreading goodwill and helping peace. He is trying to carry on the ideas of the office of war information which furnished propaganda to newspapers, aimed toward a better understanding of the USA. Byrnes is also trying to raise salaries. For years state department officials have struggled along on starvation wages. This is partly the fault of the wealthy career clique which wanted to keep wages low and thus operate a closed shop for themselves. So Secretary of State Byrnes is trying to raise diplomatic wages as the first step toward having alert diplomats guard the peace front.

However, when Byrnes' appropriation bill got up before his old friends in congress the other day, the house appropriations committee slashed it to ribbons. They particularly cut the new agencies patterned on the general idea of a Department of Peace.

MRS. ROOSEVELT'S TRAVELS

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt will soon be off on another globe-girdling tour designed to help international relations. This time Mrs. Roosevelt plans to visit Russia as well as other war-ravaged nations in Europe.

In recent weeks, she has been taking a more vocal, outspoken position on public issues. Although she denied having blasted Secretary of State Byrnes publicly for his handling of the foreign minister conference, Mrs. Roosevelt has been very sharp in private conversations about the way Truman and Byrnes have been rocking the ship of state, especially when it comes to foreign affairs.

Mrs. Roosevelt claims age is creeping up on her, but to an outside observer she gives no evidence of slowing down. She is now almost as active as she was before her husband's death - certainly still the most forthright lady ever to live in the White House.

WHY MEN LEAVE NAVY

Worried about the failure of men and officers to remain in the navy, Secretary of the Navy Forrestal recently put out an order to naval separation centers to interview the next 100 reserve officers who came up for discharge. The result showed bitter resentment on the part of reserve officers against the Annapolis clique. Here are some typical interviews quoted verbatim:

"The only reason I would join the navy again would be if I were starying.

"It's mighty late for the navy to try to sell itself to reservists.

"I think the officers of the regular navy are grasping, pushing and self-"The attitude of the majority of Annapolis officers to reservists is that they are to be endured only for the time being." "The Annapolis grads should cast aside their childish attitude.'

MERRY-GO-ROUND

¶ Judge Samuel Rosenman, one of Franklin Roosevelt's closest friends, has become a staunch defender of Mississippi's George Allen, who holds a similar position with Harry Truman. To his skeptical New Deal friends, Judge Rosenman protests, "But George is a liberal." Allen, a protege of the late Senator Pat Harrison and an insurance executive, spends part of every morning with Truman going over his problems.

The White House is quietly passing the word around to newsmen not to pack their bags. There will be no more presidential junkets for quite a while. Truman got enough kidding about his journey to the Missouri county fair to last him a long time. ¶ OPA estimates that 700,000 veterans and their families have no place to live. Their wives and children have been living "doubled up" while the G.I.s were out fighting. Now the veterans want a home of their own and can't find it. Reports coming to me say that homeless veterans will stage a demonstration in New York City.

The house committee on un-American activities has investigated ex-Sen. Robert Reynolds' Nationalist party. But, according to Investigator George McDavitt, it found nothing wrong with this group.

of Harmful Body Waste
Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—de not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.

Symptoms may be nagging backsche, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty of too frequent urination.

There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have been winning new friends for more than forty years. They have a nation-wide reputation. Are recommended by grateful people the country over. Ask your neighbor!

By VIRGINIA VALE

THERE'S a line of dialogue I in the script for International's "The Stranger," where Loretta Young confides to Orson Welles that she's a victim of acrophobia. That word threw everyone in the cast but Welles. "It's a fear of high places," said he. "I know because I used to have it myself. I cured myself by mountain climbing in the Alps; picked out the sheerest drops I could find and stared over the edge." But -for "The Stranger" they built the highest set ever erected in Hollywood, a 13-story church spire; Edward G. Robinson, Loretta and Welles do a dramatic scene part way up it. And who was it who had an attack of acrophobia? Why Orson Welles!

ision, acting for the U.S. treasury department, for the Victory Loan drive. Benchley appears with a stellar cast of 20 other notables, in the screen world.

Penny Singleton was sort of worried about her role in "Young Widow"; after seven years of playing the comic-strip "Blondie" on the screen-her contract with Columbia Pictures calls for her to do three "Blondie" pictures a year-she was afraid she'd suddenly go cavorting around the way she does as "Dagwood's" spouse. There's a screwball comedienne in "Young Widow," but Marie Wilson plays her. Penny had wanted to play a different role, and Hunt Stromberg, who brought her to the screen eight years ago in "After the Thin Man," gave her what she wanted; she plays a perfectly normal person, the wise, understanding friend of the heroine, Jane Russell.

Boris Karloff has been establishing a broadcasting record since he left Hollywood following completion of his role in RKO's "Bedlam." Nine programs in sixteen days, including three appearances on "Inner Sanctum" have kept him busy.

Sitting through a Jap-made movie is the last word in agony, according to Tom Neal, who plays the title role in "First Yank into Tokyo." Neal, cast as an American serviceman who undergoes facial surgery, so that he can pretend to be a Jap sergeant, for intelligence purposes, had to sit through "Kimona" 21 times, studying the performance of the Japanese star of the picture.

Constance Moore, "Gloria Dean" on "Hollywood Mystery Time," has a four-year-old daughter, Gina, who's pretty smart. Connie was telling a friend she was "sans cook and sans nurse." Gina looked up and inquired "Are they related to Sans Claus?"

There's a lot of kidding in the script of the Burns and Allen show about Georges singing voice. What very few people know is that Gracie's long-suffering spouse actually began his theatrical career as one of "The PeeWee Quartet," at the age of 12.

Howard Barlow has no piano in his "Harvest of Stars" orchestra; instead, beautiful Elaine Vito plays the harp. Motion picture companies have tried to tempt her to try her luck on the screen, but she prefers New York, where she plays in Toscanini's orchestra. She is also playing in Alex Stordahl's, while Frank Sinatra is broadcasting from New York. So why bother with Hollywood?

ODDS AND ENDS-Danny Kaye, "WonoDDS AND ENDS—Danny Kaye, "Wonder Man" star, is the first screen star to perform for U. S. forces occupying the Tokyo area—entertained 3,000 servicemen in the Neiji Shrine stadium. . . Seems hard to imagine Ethel Barrymore as the mother in "Little Women"; she's to play that role in Selznick's Technicolor version of the story. . . . Gavin George makes his first film appearance in several years in "Notorious"; 10 years ago, in "Romance," he was Greta Garbo's leading man. . . . #### WHAT'S WRONG WITH THIS PICTURE?

The most flabbergasting spectacle of the day is Japan playing Little Yesterday the Jap was a teethbaring, wild-eyed, snarling gorillaman, treating slaughter as a picnic pastime; today he presents the picture of a marcher in a daisy chain, not even resentful that his emperor has had to become a Hiromilguetoast.

Yesterday the Jap was diving to death in a one-man suicide bomb; today he isn't even showing the will to talk back to movie-house ushers.

The nation is taking total defeat more calmly than thousands of democratic communities take the loss of a local election.

The Japs shucked their uniforms with the eagerness of boys eager to take a hot bath. They turned in their weapons with less argument than you would get from an army of Hollywood "extras," and they have adopted "Yes" as a national slogan without batting an eyelash.

Are the Nips the most philosophical people of all time? Are they merely the best actors of 1945? Are they still in a coma? Or when licked are they a race that takes a rain check and calmly awaits the next contest?

Never in history has a warlike nation taken such a shellacking and then put its neck on the block with such gushing resignation and ultra politeness.

Of course, there is one possible exception: Maybe the Japanese are willing to accept anything rather than another close-up of Nimitz, Halsey, Mitscher and the United States marines.

But it's time somebody stripped such cases of all the bunk about its being done to halt juvenile delinquency, and keep the kiddies straight.

Employment First

People who work in the fields, in mills, mines and shops, on railroads and in industry generally, are to be congratulated upon President Truman's choice of Fred M. Vinson, the new Secretary of the Treasury of the United States. His undertaking is enormous, delicate and vital. But it is my belief that nobody else in government is quite as well qualified to handle the job as Vinsen.

The new cabinet member knows taxes. Things he has said already prove that he is keenly aware of two things that are currently the most important facts about taxes. (1) High taxes are necessary, now and for some time to come. (2) Wrongly devised taxes in the United States can wreck the financial structure of the entire world in a few months. Dark Ages might visit the earth again.

A Dependable Thing

The "yankee dollar" is one of few known quantities left in the financial world. While this condition lasts, there is a way for weak and depleted countries to gain industrial and then financial strength. The dollar will remain good so long as Uncle Sam keeps meeting his obligations promptly, fulfilling promises and paying the interest on his stupendous national debt.

Our debt is so big and America's moral obligations are so exacting that taxes must be high after the war, much higher than they have ever been in peaceful years before. Government has no way to get money except by taxing its citizens. Consequently the citizens have to be prosperous. There must be full employment, plenty of jobs at good wages-otherwise not enough taxes. Holding our Ground

The world is relying on the solvency of America, on the soundness of the dollar, and it all depends on | HAAF NEWS-NOTES jobs. Mr. Vinson said: "Taxes should be levied in such a way that they have the least harmful effect on the expansion of business investment and the creation of jobs because productive employment is the source of . . . revenue which the government collects from taxes.'

The Secretary's eye was not on taxes alone. In a recently published report he made it clear that productive employment is the foundation of America's living standard (highest in the world), the source of all income and the basis of prosperity for business and agriculture. We may be assured that Vinson will always do his best to prevent ruination of jobs by taxing business to a standstill.

A Rational Economy

Here is a powerful and rational sentence from Vinson's pen: "The sooner uncertainties in the post-war tax structure are removed, the sooner business management will be inclined to make firm commitments for expansion and the faster men can be put back to work following the wholesale cancellation of contracts that will occur with the unconditional surrender of Japan." Persons who would like to see

America in chaos, people who would like to see a dictator climb to power over America's wasted estates, may call the new Treasury head a friend of big business. He apparently is, to whatever extent such a friendship means jobs for workers, prosperity on the farm, customers in the store and food on the table for America's plain people.

No Bugs

"Good morning," said a stranger to a woman who had answered the door bell where a room was advertised to let. "Would you like to buy some insect powder?"
"No," she snapped. "I have no use for that stuff. "Good," replied the stranger. "I will take that room you are advertising.'

at home but all around the world, we Americans have by our war-time commitments become the guardians of peace. Over two hundred thousand Americans have given their lives in the battles just finished that mankind might be as free as we in this democratic country feel that

To fulfil our responsibilities abroad, we shall have to take as important a part in world affairs during the peace as we have during the war. If we do not, we may lose what so many Americans died to win-we may drift into another war. We must do a lot more about peace than simply enjoy it. We must take definite action to That is why the recruiting campaign which we have begun in the Eighth Service Command means so much. As the war-time Army is demobilized, we want to recruit from its rank, and also from the civilian population as a whole, the very best men we can possibly get to serve in the Regular Army. In the years ahead, the Regular Army will be this country's representative all around the world. It will stand for America in every foreign land. It is imperative that it be composed of the very best Americans and that it reflect all that this nation stands for. That is why the War Department is bending every effort now to build up the Regular Army with volunteers. We want an Army of men who are interested in the Army as a career.

Our appeal is directed principally to all young men between the ages of 18 and 34 inclusive, but we are also asking all the poeple of your state to support our campaign by taking an interest in it and giving it all the encouragement they can. We in the Army prefer volunteers and with the support of the public, we shall be able to build an Army of the proper size to serve the country well from volunteer

The Governor of your state has joined with us in issuing the proclamation included in this appeal.

Faithfully yours,

WALTON H. WALKER enant General, U. S. Army, Commanding.
